Promise to love! why, woman thinks To love a privilege, not a task; If thou wilt truly take my heart, And keep it, this is all I ask. Honor thee! yes, if thou wilt live

A life of truth and purity When I have seen thy worthiness, I cannot choose but honor thee. Obey! when I have fully learned Each want and wish to understand, I'll carn the wisdom to obey,

If thou hast wisdom to command. So if I fail to live with three In duty, love and lowliness, 'Tis Nature's fault, or thine or both; The greater must control the less.

----OLD MAIDS.

Fords may raise the laugh. At those whe better are by half. For surely none but fools could laugh At good old maids.

What cause for scorn is in the state Of those who never found a mate, Or have been robbed of him by fate ? The poor old maids.

Perhaps they've many offers had, And some were good and some were bad : But they dislike to marriage had. The dear old maids.

Perhaps they may have lost a lover, And never could his loss regover; But rather than to wed another

Some spend their lives in good to others, Feel for the poor as suffering brothers, And to the orphans act as mothers, The blest old maids.

It is not hard for us to guess Why men on them do crack their jests, In truth 'tis for their interest To scorn old maids

That girls might hold it still in fear, Thinking that then they would not dare Refuse them, lest they too would hear The name, OLD MAID.

MARRYING MEN WANTED .- The Belleville Tribune is bidding up for an invoice of marriageable bachelors. It says the ranks of single men have been so greatly thinned by marriage and removals that there is Fashion!! Fashion!!! July next, then and there to plead, answer or denow a great inequality in the sexes, and he calls on his brethren of the press to give publicity to the fact. By way of an inducement he says: "We have an excellent article of girls here the most of them pretty, some of them rich and all of them charming of course. We do not think they are of the right sort for old maids, and though we have no statistics by us to justify the assertion, we are of the opinion that coaxing might induce them to have compassion on good looking, intelligent and moral young men in search of consorts.

AN IRRESISTIBLE APPEAL,-The Atlanta juvenile Georgia politician:

"ATLANTA GA., Nov. 10, 1856,

"Hon. Jas. Buchanan-Dear Sir: The election is now over, and you are President During the canvass I have hollered for you until I am hoarse, and my throat is sore, and I have spent all of my small change. I would like to on hand, but our Stock is so large, with have it-and if not, please send me ten such a variety of styles that we will just "Yours respectfully."

the alphabet. A lady who was present declared she knew a rock of which he was Fashionable GOODS wholly ignorant. "Name it, madam," cried Colebs, in a rage. "It is rock the cradle, sir," replied the lady. Coelebs evaporated.

THE OLDEST WOMAN.-The St. Louis Republican doubts whether as old a woman now survives as one whose remains were committed to the grave a week ago Aunt Till, a slave belonging to Captain Lewis Bissell, of that neighborhood, died on the 8th inst., at the extraordinary age of 130

RECIPE FOR THE SEASON .- A lady up town cleared her house of flies by putting honey on her husband's whiskers when he was asleep. The flies stuck fast and when he went out of the house he carried them off

How a Sun-Stroke Affects Man.—The general impression is, that death by sunstroke is very painful, but the contrary would seem to be the fact, judging from the following account of the effect of such a visitation, given by General Sir C. J. Napier. He experienced an attack while in Scinde, where the thermometer, according to Gen. N. himself, was of as much use to him as it would have been to a boiling lobster, and wrote as fo lows to one of lishment in Charlotte, next door East his daughters, "The sun-stroke was a of the Jail, nearly opposite Trotter's old stand, where he intends manufacturing Carriages, Buggies, &c., in the best and most approved style. never can death come in an easier shape. I was just deadly sleepy: it was deadly had I been alone; but the only feeling of the transition would have been a tiredness, like that experienced at being suddenly waked up before time. This was to a degree almost to be called painful; then came a pleasant drowsiness, with anger that the doctors would not let me sleep. Were it not for others, would that my horn had then sounded; so easy, so delightful, I may say, was the approach of death." This resembles the accounts that have been given by men who have been saved from freezing to death, after having got far down into the dark valley; so that this excess of neat and excess of cold produce precisely the same

UNE WAY OF TELLING IT .- An exchange thus walks into his delinquent subscribers:

PAY UP .- Don't wait to be called upon -pay up at every time, in the church and out-pay up-walk up-stand up. Be scrupulous on this point, conscientiously soit is your gain, your interest, your safety, your life. No man ought to put his hand to paper, make any contract or engagement, without expecting, intending, determining fully to refund the sum promised at the time, precisely, unless it be for a newspaper. Pay your grog bill, but never for a moment think of paying off your printer's bill punctually-indeed, it makes but little difference if you never pay it. What does an editor or publisher want with money!

ADVANTAGE OF USING TOBACCO.-Some few years ago the following was communicated to Commodore Wilkes, of the exploring expedition, by a savage of the Fegre Islands. He stated that a vessel, the hull of which was still lying on the beech, had come ashore in a storm, and all the crew had fallen into the hands of the Islanders. "What did you do with them?" inquired

"Killed 'em all." answered the savage. "What did you do with them after you had killed them !"

"Eat 'em, good," returned the canibal. "Did you eat them all?" asked the half sick Commodore. "Yes, we eat all but one." "And why did you spare one?"

"Because he tasted too much like tobacco. Couldn't eat him no how."

If a tocacco chewer should happen to fall in the hands of the New Zealand savages or get wrecked somewhere in the Fegee group, he will have the consolation of knowing that he will not be cut into steaks and Would die old maids, buried in the unconsecrated stomach of a
